Profile

Hello! I'm a multidisciplinary Art Director with 8+ years of experience in the advertising industry in Bangalore, India, where I led brand campaigns from concept to execution across diverse sectors. My background in advertising shaped my foundation in creative strategy and visual storytelling, and I now apply that lens across web experiences, editorial design, motion, and brand development.

With formal training in UX design, web development, and motion graphics from Algonquin College in Ottawa, I've expanded my creative foundation into digital-first experiences by designing websites, visual brand systems, editorial reports, and motion-driven content with both narrative depth and user-centered precision. I'm comfortable moving between conceptualizing and meticulous execution, and I'm focused on growing into creative leadership roles where I can mentor designers, oversee projects end-to-end, and elevate the craft of digital brand storytelling.
